HISTORY OF BRANTFORD REGION INDIGENOUS SUPPORT CENTRE (BRISC)

Through the support of De dwa da dehs nye>s Aboriginal Health Centre, and the City of Brantford, the Brantford Region Indigenous Support Centre (BRISC) committee was formed in the fall of 2017. The committee has been devoted to working with community members, both Indigenous and non-Indigenous service providers and stakeholders to re-establish a friendship centre in Brantford.

The need for a Friendship centre has been evident since the previous one, The Pine Tree centre, closed in Brantford in 2005. The population of the City of Brantford's self-identified urban population is over 11,000 according to Statistics Canada. An additional approximately 18,000 Indigenous people reside in the surrounding catchment area. The population alone is large, and can be served by the proposed Friendship Centre.

As such, BRISC is looking to provide programming in four key areas: 1) Intergenerational programs that promote the wellness of both seniors and children/youth; 2) Prevention-based programs that promote family harmony and positive relationships; 3) Programs that promote community-based harmony for individuals to live healthy lives; and 4) Empowering children and youth leadership.

Through hard work and commitment by voluntary Board of Directors, together they completed the following:

- ✓ gained support of local First Nations, community membership and community organization stakeholders;
- ✓ applied for and secured organizational incorporation documents as required;
- ✓ hired an Executive Director to oversee the development of the organization;
- ✓ applied successfully to be a member of Ontario Federation of Indigenous Friendship Centre;
- ✓ secured core operating dollars for management and administration;
- ✓ hired staff to deliver court worker and healing and wellness initiatives in Brantford.
