National Indigenous Peoples day at MCFN

Mississaugas of the Credit Social and Health Department organized a National Indigenous People's Day celebration at the MCFN Community Centre. The celebration started at 5:30 a.m. with a sunrise ceremony that more than 20 community members attended. The celebration continued with a traditional breakfast, singing with the Manitou Mkwa Singers and kept the fun going with archery lessons, lacrosse and crafts, like making medicine pouches, dream catchers and wood burning art.

Children enjoyed archery lessons, crafts and games at the MCFN Indigenous People's Day celebration on June 21.

City of Mississauga celebrates with MCFN

The City of Mississauga partnered with the Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation (MCFN) and the Mississauga Nation to host its second annual National Indigenous Peoples Day celebration on Mississauga Celebration Square (MCS). The event, which drew a large crowd featured a free concert with MCFN's Mr. Sauga, Manitou Mkwa Singers and others. The city hosted a ceremony featuring Members of Council and the first ever Pow Wow at MCS, Michi Sagiig Anishinaabe United Pow Wow, which featured dancing, drumming and performances. Residents and visitors alike participated in and watched Indigenous music and art that celebrates the unique culture of the First Nations and Anishinaabe Peoples. They also painted with the Moccasin Identifier Project to learn more about Indigenous heritage and historical moccasin designs and much more.

Hamilton Police honour MCFN with new constable

Sawyer will ride through the streets of Hamilton carrying an Anishinaabe name to honour the land he helps protect.

Stacey Hill, Indigenous Liaison Officer for the Hamilton Police took part in a Naming Ceremony on June 8 in Lynden, Ontario where two new police horses were given names, one was named Chief Joseph Sawyer and his Anishinaabe name, Nawahjekezhegwabe meaning, The Sloping Sky.

Hill smudged the horses during the ceremony and had visited prior to acclimate them to the smell. His namesake was a soldier who fought in the War of 1812 in the battles of Lundy's Lane, Detroit and Queenston Heights. Hill said it was important to her to name the horse after a warrior, and hero. "It's a treaty land and I wanted it to have some significance to the peoples of this land," she said. Chief Joseph Sawyer overcame battles with depression, alcohol and religion, eventually becoming Chief of the Mississauagas of the Credit First Nation in 1829 and remained chief until his death in 1863. Sawyer was instrumental in securing the land MCFN currently resides on after the federal government tried to relocate the First Nation to Manitoulin Island. He argued that MCFN had become a successful farming community and the island would not suit their way of life. When the government's intention not to give them secure title to their reserve near the Credit River was clear, Sawyer and his council considered leaving the Credit River and eventually accepted an offer from Six Nations of the Grand River to settle near the current town of Hagersville. Hill said it was important to Hamilton Police to have the new member of the force given an Indigenous name because they wanted to honour the heritage of the city. "I think it has a lot to do with the Truth and Reconciliation Calls to Action and showing that they want to build bridges and have our communities linked together, to recognize the significance of the Mississauga people and this being our traditional land, its honouring that."

CN Tower highlights MCFN

In June, the CN Tower Radome featured images from the logo of the Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation (MCFN), which is the Treaty holder for the land on which the CN Tower stands. It also added window cling films dedicated to the First Nation in different locations throughout the CN Tower. It also has plans to display the MCFN mural prominently and is working on more ways to honour MCFN.

MCFN GRADUATION AWARD PROGRAM POLICY AND PROCEDURES

Department of Lifelong Learning

GOAL

The Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation (MCFN) graduation award began in 2005 and provides MCFN students with awards for their academic achievements.

POLICY

The MNCFN Community Trust was established in April of 1997, as a result of an agreement between the MCFN and the Government of Canada. The agreement settled an outstanding Land Claim and the settlement money was set aside in trust for use and benefit of the community as a whole, for now and in the future. The trust funds are managed under the direction of a formal Trust Agreement and administered by eight Trustees and a General Manager.

The MCFN Lifelong Learning Department, in partnership with the MNCFN Community Trust, has created the Graduation Awards Program for the student members of the First Nation. The program provides monetary awards based on the level of education the student completes. From the elementary student to the post-graduate, all are rewarded for their graduation from their programs. The awards program is open to all MCFN members regardless of residency. All members who attend and graduate from an educational institution are eligible for a one time per educational level award. Awards will only be given for current graduation from an Educational Institution. No monetary awards will be given for previous years which were not applied for.

The Department of Lifelong Learning will submit an annual application to the MNCFN Community Trust for ongoing continuation of the Graduation Award Program.

PROCEDURES

1. Awards are based on the calendar year (January-December). Awards will be processed once the funding application has been approved by the MNCFN Community Trust.
2. The recipient will receive a graduation certificate signed by a member of the Community Trust along with a cheque, honouring their achievement.
3. Applications for the January to December calendar year will be accepted until March 31st of the following year.
4. I have submitted a photocopy of my graduation transcript or diploma.
5. I have submitted a photocopy of my status card.

Annual Children's Pow Wow

MCFN's Annual Children's Pow Wow saw more than 200 children attend to learn about and participate in Indigenous dancing, drumming and language on June 16.

Katharine Brown, Earlyon Child and Family Programs Coordinator said this year was the first year the Children's Pow Wow has run since 2019, due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Children from daycare centre's throughout the region, including YMCA Dunnville, McKinnon Park Child Care, Norfolk Little People, EarlyON, Maawdoo Maajaamin Childcare, Ekwaamijgenang Children's Centre, Briosphere Norfolk, Parkway Daycare and more attended with children aged 0 to 4. MC Nikki Shawana and many adult dancers spent time teaching the children the stories and meanings behind dances, like the Jingle Dance and Grass Dance.

It was a great day with many brave people sharing their stories and supporting each other. A beautiful day with beautiful souls. We need to continue the talk, the learning, the understanding and continue the support. Thank you for such a great event! - Leslie Maracle RECE Community Wellness Worker

Councillor Fawn Sault, Pillar Three, Environment and Sustainability Stewardship for Land, Air, Water and Natural Resources

Aaniin kina-weyaa (hello everyone),
First an introduction for those of you that do not know me. My name is Fawn Sault. I am a Councillor and the Lead for Pillar 3, Environment, Sustainability and Stewardship.

I am a single mother of an 18-year-old son. I was born and raised in Detroit, Michigan. I built my home here on reserve approximately 10 years ago and have lived in the community for almost 19 years. My father was Roger Sault and my mother is Debbie Sault. I have four siblings Eric, Adam, Meghan and Jessica. When we were young our parents would bring us to visit our family at MCFN every year. When I had my son, I decided I did not want to raise him in Detroit and brought him home.

My educational background: Environmental Technician Diploma, Adult Indigenous Education Certificate and I am currently studying Horticulture and Landscape Design at the University of Guelph.

I have worked as the Environmental Technician in Community Health, in Lands, Membership and Research (LMR) as a Field Liaison (not what it was called at the time), in LMR as the Geo-tech assistant (which was basically consultation and accommodation), and in the Department of Consultation and Accommodation since it was created as the Consultation Manager.

I have created the table below on some of the different projects or issues that I work on under my pillar and council for you to have a look at.

I work with staff, Chief and other councillors on most of these projects. Teamwork is needed for all of our work. Please feel free to reach out and ask any questions you have or if you are not too far away, I am willing to meet for coffee or tea and have a chat.

I can be reached at 289-680-8562 or 905-869-8505, FawnS@mncfn.ca. Feel free to text me as well.

*I would like to get some feedback from you all. Do you like the chart layout?

I am debating whether to remove the line items as they are completed or leaving them for those who would like to see a glimpse of everything even if it is complete. Your thoughts are appreciated.

Email or message me, whichever you prefer, and remember if you would like to meet for coffee and chat just let me know and Ill make time.

Restorative Justice Program up and running

The Restorative Justice Program provides dispute resolution reflective of the historical, and cultural values of the Anishinaabeg. MCFN (Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation) believes that members need an alternative to the mainstream Justice system that is designed to focus on a community response to repair the harm done. The outcomes will be designed to repair and facilitate closure and healing for all involved. The outcome will be unique to the individuals and designed to help build a stronger, safer community.

Aanii, and She:Kon, my name is Angie Hill, Restorative Justice Worker, for MCFN.
